FISHING IN CHESAPEAKE BAY .- This summer the fishing has been very fine around the mouth of the Chesapeake bay. Sheephead have been of the Chesapeske bay. Sheephead have been scarce, but all the other varieties have been taken in great numbers. Along the channels around Smith's and Cobb's islands the sport is said to be neusually good. The bottom of the Chesapeske this year seems to be lined with crabs, and hundreds of barrels are shipped North every day. Great sport has been had taking what are known as "jumping mullets." They are taken after night and the sport is very exciting. They feed along the shore and are frightened by the lightfrom the boats. As they leap some strike the boats, some land on the incide and a few go all the way over.
